History of World Environment Day

World Environment Day was launched by United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) in 1972 which was the first day of the Stockholm Conference on the human environment. However, it was first observed in the United States in 1974 with the theme- 'Only one earth'

The environment is the real world that has the living as well as non-living types of surroundings on the earth. It also refers to a particular geographical area. Like land, plants, water, air, sunlight, forests, food, rivers, and other natural things come within the environment.

IMPORTANCE OF WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY

The purpose of World Environment Day is to spread awareness about the threat to the environment due to rising pollution levels and climate change. The first World Environment Day was observed in 1974, giving a global platform for inspiring positive change in the environment.

- World Environment Day Anthem

Our cosmic oasis, cosmic blue pearl the most beautiful planet in the universe all the continents and all the oceans united we stand as flora and fauna united we stand as species of one earth different cultures, beliefs and ways

Today, the Earth's ecosystem has completely gone awry. Statistics show that 45% of the world's wildlife and 12% of plant species have decreased. These figures show that the number of trees, tigers, lions, deer and other wonderful wildlife among us is continuously decreasing. Due to this the balance of nature has deteriorated. Therefore, in order to maintain the balance of life on the earth, it is very important to preserve the animals, trees and plants.

Indian philosophy celebrates living with nature. The Artharva Veda says,

"Mata bhoomi, putroham prithviya"

- this land is my mother and I am its son.

Baisakhi, Bihu, Pongal, and several other festivals are fundamentally linked to nature and carry the eternal message of protecting and respecting it. At a time when the world is challenged by an invisible adversary and nature is teaching us a tough lesson, we must reflect this in our actions.

Environmental protection holds the key to the survival of human civilization.
Our collective and individual efforts to protect the environment should not be impervious to ancient wisdom. There is a need for agricultural land and infrastructure on land that was once a forest. Restoration of ecosystems, such as societies, needs to adapt to the changing climate. With such understanding and contribution there will be no harm to any animal, plant and human life. By doing this our earth will always be safe for all.

It's time to wake up. To take notice. This World Environment Day, it's time for nature.

Name- Sakshi Raut.

The theme of the International yoga day 2022 is "YOGA FOR HUMANITY". This year is celebrated as the 8th International Yoga Day, under the guidance of Dr. Sharayu B. Taywade Principal of Taywade College of Arts, commerce and Science. The programme was started with the welcome speech by Dr. Sharayu B. Taywade, Principal Taywade College of Arts commerce and science Mahadula Koradi. In her speech She told that yoga brings harmony in the body, mind, and environment welcoming all the guest and students.

The resource person for Yoga day conveyed that yoga is simple which everyone can do to improve their mental and physical health. There are two important practices in yoga which are asana and pranayama. Asana is a physical practice that is done with one's body. Asana can be called complete when its duration lasts at least 30 sec. We actually gain energy through it and we connect with the air we breathe" he said.

Pranayama is a formal practice of controlling the breath. He taught the techniques to sync one's attention with the breath and recognize it. Through these techniques, we can increase our oxygen levels and end up boosting our energy levels too. He gave advice to the cadets that when they feel stressed, take a deep breath and it cools off the mind. He also said that yoga isn't a cure for health problems but it's a way to prevent from having health problems. Whenever we plan to practice yoga, take safety precautions always. Pranayama is done to control one's breathing style and meditation is done to improve one's concentration.
